IS THE WRITING ON THE WALL? OR IS IT JUST GRAFFITI?

Plagues

Today, we face at least two plagues that have irreversibly changed the world and will continue to do so for some time to come. Plagues are not uncommon in the Bible and, indeed, will be visited on unbelieving Israel and the world during the Great Tribulation, a seven-year period of horrific persecution, fear, and rule by the antichrist from Jerusalem. Only the return of Jesus at His second coming will end this and change the way that the world is ruled and organised. Plagues have been common also throughout world history both those brought about by man and those, like locusts, by nature. In the March issue I wrote about the past plagues of Spanish flu, Seasonal flu, SARS, H1N1 flu, and Ebola. These have killed many people, millions in the case of the Spanish flu and at a time when there were no effective treatments available. Now despite many claims from the scientists, politicians, and Pharmaceutical companies no treatment is yet available for Coronavirus, but other agendas have been put in place to use this so-called pandemic as an excuse to control the world population. Has the finger of God painted this picture for the prophets to interpret and warn us our impending death if we do not repent and turn back to God? It is not a choice between Covid19 or locusts, it is a choice between LIFE and DEATH. The choice is ours.

IS THE WRITING ON THE WALL?

The Book of Daniel, the Prophet, is full of supernatural events as God reveals his knowledge, power, and glory through Daniel to successive kings of Babylon.

Nebuchadnezzar, the king who brought Judah into captivity and received Daniel as an exile, had dreams, created an image of himself in gold, had a vision of a tree and observed Daniel and his friends unharmed in the fiery furnace. Daniel too had dreams, visions and gave interpretations. Perhaps the most striking interpretation of a vision was that of the 'writing on the wall' as described in Daniel 5:1-6;25-31.

Belshazzar (Nebuchadnezzar's son) throws a banquet and defiles the Temple goblets by drinking un-consecrated wine from them with his guests. Then, to make matters worse he and his friends worship the gods of gold, silver, iron, wood and stone. God immediately responds with a supernatural sign, i.e. the hand of God writing on the plaster wall in front of the King, who, not unexpectedly was consumed with fear and dread.

The King was desperate for someone too interpret the writing for him. His magicians and sorcerers could not, so, Daniel was called for. Daniel could read the words and so spoke the Word of God to Belshazzar.

Daniel rebukes the King for not humbling himself before God, and lists his sins as God has seen them:

- i) Belshazzar set himself up against the Lord of heaven (v23a)
- ii) He used the Temple vessels to drink from at a party and thus contaminated them and defiled himself and his friends. (v23b)
- iii) He and his friends were guilty of idolatry by worshipping gods of gold, silver, bronze iron, wood and stone. (v23c)
- iv) Belshazzar did not honour God who holds all life in His hands. (v23d)

The writing on the wall interpreted by Daniel, said "Mene, Mene, Tekel, Parsin"

Daniel gave the interpretation and the Word from God to Belshazzar:

Mene; God has numbered the days of your reign and brought it to an end. (Note it is said twice for emphasis & authority)

Tekel: You have been weighed on the scales and found wanting.

Parsin (Peres -singular) Your kingdom is divided and will be given to the Medes and Persians.

That night Belshazzar was killed and Darius, the Mede, became King.

The miracle working power of God continued as Darius reluctantly had Daniel thrown into the Lion's Den – only for God to shut the mouths of the lions so that the next morning Daniel emerged unharmed. (Daniel 6) Daniels accusers, their wives and families were then thrown into the Lion's den and killed. This was then followed by Daniel having two more powerful dreams (and the interpretations) – the four beasts (Ch 7) and the vision of a ram and a goat (Ch 8)

As the writing was on the wall from Balshazzar, so it is for us today. Let us consider the continuing revelation of God through the prophetic ministry today.

A pastor from Kentucky, Dana Coverstone, shares THREE prophetic warning dreams he was given. Part 1 was given to him in December 2019, and the other two dreams [Part 2] were given to him in June 2020. Part 1 has already come to pass. Part 2 is expected to begin to unfold in September 2020.

In December 2019 Tracy saw a calendar for 2020 and then a finger came and tapped the month of January three times. Then a hand came, and its finger tapped the month of March three times for emphasis.

Then April, May, June appeared on the calendar. The hand came and tapped June three times (for emphasis) then he saw lots of people very ill, ambulances racing around, fires, protesters angry with the world. Then he saw bears wandering around in the cities amid chaos. This was followed by vultures flying around. There was absolute fear around and people holding guns – word spoke “Brace yourselves, brace yourselves”.

The second dream came in June 2020 – A white figure appeared (Holy God) and a Voice said “Part 2, Part 2” then he saw a calendar for June and July and August. September was emphasised as was November. There was chaos, armed people in the streets, schools closed, dilapidated school buildings, bank roofs taken off and money pouring out. Politicians in back rooms making deals, people rounded up. Chinese and Russian soldiers rounding people up. UN troops also leading the rounding up. Then vultures came and attacked people, He saw homes and churches being burned. Then a ‘fist pump’ on November 2020 – and he heard the words “Brace yourself, brace yourself”.

The third dream came soon after the second. In it he walked to Bank to get change for a Church yard sale. The President of local bank was at counter and told him that there was no change. She said – “I am sorry, but the US Mint is no longer making coins – prepare for hyper-inflation- one dollar and five-dollar bills will follow soon after”. He heard the same words again “Brace Yourself, brace yourself!”

Dana Coverstone was certain that all this meant that there would be a huge wave of Covid in the USA from September – November 2020 leading to Civil War. He didn't see President Trump anywhere, just anarchy, chaos and fear. He is encouraging his Church and listeners to prepare for it.....

It is striking that here in this series of prophetic dreams God is speaking as he did to Belshazzar about kingdoms and Governments (particularly in the Christian West) coming to an end. Is the writing on the wall for USA and the UK?

Tracy Cooke and his wife are the founding pastors of their church and have led it for 20 years. (Miracle Life Tabernacle Ministries, North Carolina). This is the word that Tracy had.....

"2020 is the time when God is going to deal with landscape of the Church – expedite time, prophesy, dreams and vision – The Church started out like Sampson with great strength – God taking Church back to repentance – everything that can be shaken will be shaken in the next four months (see Hebrews 12:26-27). Nature will preach and prophesy through signs and wonders (see my book Where are we Heading – Heaven Only Knows). The Church is coming out of defeat into victory.

Faith is going to come alive, flow in gifts of the Spirit, and satisfy the desires of the heart. Platform of greatness for many. Glory of God will be shown. God is going to deal with homosexuality, abortion, false prophets, and teachers in the Church. This is the year of the greatest miracles. Stay humble before God and give him the glory."

Unlike the UK Government and PM, Donald Trump was appointed by God for this time. He has a close circle of Christian prophets and pastors with whom he discusses each major speech and step. People either hate or love him in the natural but the Spirit of the Lord is leading him, and Scripture shows that only the spiritual people will discern that. On 14th June, this year he laid out before the House of Representatives seven clear commitments to uphold Christian values in America. He received a series of standing ovations for his promises that amounted to war on the antichrist agenda, so paralysing the UK at the moment. For example, his stand against abortion, BLM and gay activism together with his pledge to uphold Christian faith in schools and society were very courageous. God will bless this man for this and his support for Israel.

Is the writing on the wall for the unbelieving world? Has God had enough? Is it not time for the Lord to return for His body, the Church? Let us listen again to the charge against Belshazzar. Does our sin include

- Thinking that mankind, science, medicine, philosophy and law knows best – do we idolise any or all of these and depend upon them for our lives and material comfort to the exclusion of God and His salvation?
- Do we treat the sacred things with familiarity and even disdain and contaminate ourselves by adopting the values of a fallen world?
- Are we idolatrous, worshipping the gods of sport, NHS, music and paganism rather than knowing God in spirit led worship and praise?
- Do we really honour God who holds our lives in His hand? In all our ways we should acknowledge Him.

Arise Oh Church of Christ, turn to Him the only Saviour, healer, provider, shield and defender and be born again by the Spirit of God to know him in your spirit. Desire the gifts and the anointing, the giver and the power, the truth and the way.

Is God writing on your living room wall today, is He calling you back into intimacy, if so, let us bow our heads and kneel before Him only and pray

Oh Almighty, loving God, Father, Son and Holy Spirit, we acknowledge only you as the divine authority, the only Saviour and the Hope of all who seek You. We confess, with shame, our wickedness and sin. Have mercy on us. We turn from our sin and turn to you today. Thank you that You have said that if we do then You will forgive our sin and cleanse us from all unrighteousness. We received your forgiveness and the new life that is ours every day in your Son Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

THE GLOBAL PANDEMIC – Covid 19

WHO Coronavirus Disease \(COVID-19\) Dashboard at 8th July 2020

11,635,939 confirmed cases of COVID-19, including 539,026 deaths, 6,420,000 recovered from Covid19 reported to WHO.

The Lie – deaths figures inflated, incorrect comparisons, conflicting scientific advice (even from same Universities!) PROJECT Fear – These are some of the many views being expressed by a complete cross-section of people and reported in the daily papers, although, it has to be said, not by the BBC. For fuller details and sources about this see my May Newsletter.

Peter Hitchens, in his excoriating article written for the Mail on Sunday June 14th, described PROJECT FEAR as the 'Dictatorship of Fear'. The 'F' factor pushed by Government ministers and scientists for a few weeks after they had come up with the idea, based upon the false claim that we were all at risk from a terrible and devastating disease. His research shows that the numbers of dead are grossly inflated by what he has called 'an incredibly lax recording system which does not distinguish between those who died of Covid 19 and those who died of other things, but may have been infected by it. The elderly, ill and sick who for whatever found themselves in one of the 21,723 Nursing Homes in the UK were left vulnerable and unprotected by the Government's and Health England neglect, a position made acutely worse by the NHS who discharged elderly Covid-positive patients back into the same Nursing Homes. We recognise that the elderly and ill in society are the groups in most danger, but sadly, the Government saw the danger too late and its failure to protect them has caused thousands of deaths. It is interesting that almost half of the reported Covid deaths have been from Nursing Homes (<https://metro.co.uk/2020/04/14/many-care-homes-uk-coronavirus->). Having said that there continues to be much concern about the numbers of death certificates that wrongly attributed death to Covid19. This was due to pressure from the Department of Health (presumably led by Big 'Pharma') to create the illusion of a huge number of deaths (wrongly and erroneously forecast to be 500,000 by Neil Ferguson of Imperial College London). Many doctors in the UK and USA have testified to this pressure and confirmed that the results were skewed for this reason. As we saw in earlier newsletters, the only people to benefit from the heartache and neglect are the Global Elite and Big Pharma who stand to make £$billions out of any new vaccine.

Peter Hitchens are was scathing about the BBC Bias in presenting and reporting the 'pandemic'. He refers to the Corporation's 'barefaced dishonesty and unlawful bias apart. The Media generally has not helped at all with scare stories and pitifully bad coverage, that has misled millions of readers about the truth of this Virus and the Government's handling of it. The Government's policy has been completely exploded by scientific experts like Sunetra Gupta, Professor of Theoretical Epidemiology at the University of Oxford, Dr Sucharit Bhakdi, an infectious disease specialist in Germany and Stanford University, and also Professors Dolores Cahill and Judy Mikovits among many as I reported last month. I also mentioned in my April newsletter, Katherine Timpf a reporter for National Review Online Criticised Governments for causing problems both through failed and inadequately tested initiatives and Regulations that have put people's lives at risk.

John Ioannidis, a maverick pandemic forecaster at Stanford University, called the data collected so far on the pandemic "utterly unreliable". He pointed out that the Diamond Princess cruise ship yielded a mortality rate of 1% in a population composed of high-risk older people. He wrote "In the absence of data, prepare-for-the-worst reasoning leads to extreme measures of social distancing and lockdowns. Unfortunately, we do not know if these measures work."

Michael Levitt, a Nobel laureate and Stanford biophysicist correctly calculated that China would get through the worst of its coronavirus outbreak long before many others. He now foresees a similar outcome for the rest of the world.

While many experts are warning of months, or even years, of lockdown and social distancing, Levitt says the data simply doesn't support such a dire scenario. He wrote "The real situation is not as nearly as terrible as they make it out to be. What we need is to control the panic, we're going to be fine."

Levitt blames the media for causing unnecessary panic by focusing on the increase in cases and spotlighting celebrities who contract the virus.

In addition to all of this we have the false claim by Government and the BBC that the 'shutdown' has protected the NHS is not borne out by any facts. The NHS was never going to be overwhelmed says Peter Hitchens as the peak hit the UK on April 8th two weeks after the lockdown was introduced. Death rates per head in the UK at 620 per million is less than Belgium who introduced the tightest lockdown. Sweden's death rate was lower than the UK at 472 per million despite not implementing a lockdown. Japan also didn't implement a lockdown and yet their death rate was an astonishing 7 deaths per million. So much for the 'science'. Science contributes greatly to both our understanding of the natural world and our lifestyles but equally distinguishes itself with an appalling history of military inventions, chemical weapons, drugs that kill rather than cure, drugs that main rather than protect and everyday equipment that often proves dangerous. We need to be so careful not to treat science and scientists as God and everything they say as truth because it is not. The Covid pandemic has revealed much that is morally and ethically wrong about science and its disproportionate hold over Governments. Many things that are now the 'New Norm' in shopping, travel, holidays, work GP surgeries have and continue to change the relationship between State and individual, crossing the boundary of personal liberty and democratic freedom.

'How Fear, Groupthink Drove Unnecessary Global Lockdowns'. 'In the face of a virus threat, China clamped down on its citizens with the first lockdowns. Then as the virus spread around the world academics used faulty information to build faulty models. Leaders relied on these faulty models. Dissenting views were suppressed. The media flamed fears and the world panicked. That is the story of what may eventually be known as one of the biggest medical and economic blunders of all time. The collective failure of every Western nation, except one, to question groupthink will surely be studied by economists, doctors, and psychologists for decades to come. We put millions of young healthy people under house arrest, stopped cancer screenings and treatment for other serious diseases, and sunk ourselves into the worst level of unemployment since the Great Depression. This from a virus that bears a survival rate of 99.99% if you are a healthy individual under 50 years old.’ (Yinon Weiss – www.RealClearPolitics.com May 21st 2020)

Biblical authority on Plague – See p6 of April newsletter

The Origin of the Virus

During these past few weeks, when the pandemic became official, I have been asking the Lord to reveal to me His perspective on this crisis. It has been clear that the virus was created in a laboratory, funded by the global elite (i.e. the proponents and orchestrators of the planned single, global, government for the whole world ... which we know will be led by the anti-Christ at some point). COVID-19 is a manufactured, weaponized, pathogen that was seeded into populations with an evil objective, but it is not doing what it says ‘on the tin’! Whilst there are now mutations in circulation and scientists are struggling to find out how the virus is made up, temporary treatments are on the cards, but these will not be the panacea claimed by the pharmaceutical industry and the globalists like Bill & Melinda Gates. I believe that God is frustrating their plans for a global vaccine and a digital marker to control everyone (the mark of the Beast).

Global Track & trace App and Testing

There are four parts to the Governments proposals for Track and Trace. The first concerns an antigen test to check if you have coronavirus now. The second is to follow up your coronavirus test result. The remaining two parts concern contact after testing positive or if you've been in contact with a person who has coronavirus. The roll-out of this has been fraught with technical difficulties and in getting responses from people previously tested. In a helpful article in the Telegraph on 8th July there is a useful summary of the position to date.

According to the Telegraph in their Online Article, the Government has been racing to find ways to ease restrictions without putting public safety at risk.

On May 5, the Government revealed its first attempt at a contact-tracing app. But in a major U-turn, on June 18, the Government admitted the app flawed and it would switch to a model being developed by tech giants Apple and Google.

Matt Hancock, the Health Secretary, was forced to admit: "We knew from the start that we would need to test and learn as we developed this new technology."

While the app has been delayed, the UK has from 27th May been using trained teams to call up people who have coronavirus symptoms to track the spread of Covid-19 and ask them to isolate. Reports from various newspapers have revealed that many of the trained workforce have not been used and extraordinarily little effective tracking and tracing has been carried out.

The UK's Test and Trace chief, Dido Harding, refused to put a timeline on when the app would be launched.

With the UK having to swap its app for technology made by Apple and Google, there could still be a long wait for the new version to arrive. Lord Bethell, the Junior Health Minister this week said Britain's delayed contact-tracing app will not be ready until winter and "isn't the priority at the moment"! It seems to me that with lockdown restrictions having been largely removed and the population on the move to have holidays, enjoy leisure time together in pubs and restaurants or simply more being back at work, the whole intention of Track & trace has become much harder to make work. It seems like more £m wasted.....

An interesting article in the Telegraph on 9th July stated that SAGE, the Scientific Advisory Group on Emergencies, led by Sir Patrick Valance and professor Chris Whitty appears to have been sidelined and will meet less frequently as ministers take more direct control of the Coronavirus crisis! An expanded Joint Biosecurity Centre will take a more prominent role – 'BJC' doesn't sound as wise as 'SAGE' but time will tell if this is a move in the right direction.

Religious Liberty

In the last week of June, a group of 25 Church leaders supported by Christian Legal Centre filed a legal action challenging the Government's lockdown of churches as an unconstitutional invasion of church liberties.

This action led to an article published on 30th June by the National Director of the Fellowship of Independent Evangelical Churches (FIEC), John Stevens, who argued that there has been no such invasion, and the government acted within its rights.

Andrea Williams of Christian Concern said that there is much to agree with in Mr Stevens' article. He is right to caution the churches against ignoring the government's advice to take certain precautions when the churches re-open – you don't want to endanger the health of your parishioners and others, and you don't want to sabotage the church's mission by exposing it to public anger as a collective Dominic Cummings.

The difference of opinion turns on the fact that, firstly, what the Government did amounts to an unconstitutional invasion of church liberties because the Government did not ADVISE the church but it chose to issue legally binding Regulations, backed by a threat of criminal sanction for ministers who fail to keep their churches closed during the lockdown.

Since the beginning of this month new Regulations have been published and we hope and pray the government will stay true to its latest guidance thereby acknowledging the principle of the freedom of the Church.

The second point concerns the law concerning the freedom of the Church. This finds its authority in the Magna Carta.

Magna Carta 1297 is still celebrated as the foundation stone of English democracy and rule of law. Its very first chapter reads:

FIRST, We have granted to God, and by this our present Charter have confirmed, for Us and our Heirs for ever, that the Church of England shall be free, and shall have all her whole Rights and Liberties inviolable...

Most of the other provisions of Magna Carta have been repealed by now; but not this one.

It is argued by Christian Concern that despite Henry VIII and the English Reformation the status of the Church of England as the Established Church had a profoundly ennobling effect on the British State – but inevitably compromised the purity of the Church. Today, when we see some of its bishops openly preaching homosexuality and transgenderism, it is fair to say that we are still paying the bill for Henry VIII. There is much to be said about this; but none of that would amount to a proper analysis in terms of constitutional law.

In the eyes of the law, whether or not Henry VIII breached Magna Carta, Magna Carta is the law of the land.

It is right to point out that the Queen in Parliament is sovereign; but that does not mean that every bureaucrat at Whitehall is sovereign. The lockdown of churches was not imposed by an Act of Parliament – it was imposed by Regulations issued by a team of faceless civil servants under the authority delegated to them by the Health Secretary, the Rt. Hon. Mr Hancock.

Andrea Williams argues that here is the real difference because a Bill in Parliament would have been publicly debated, scrutinised and amended both in the Commons and in the Lords. The implications for the independence of the church would have been raised, resulting in a considered democratic decision one way or the other. By contrast for the Civil Servants in Whitehall, the issue was probably simply overlooked – ‘churches’ were just another item on the list, just between ‘cemeteries’ and ‘circuses’, and it only took half a second to tick the box.

In other words, the solemn commitment "that the Church of England shall be free, and shall have all her whole Rights and Liberties inviolable" cannot be abrogated in a small print, e.g. by passing an Act of Parliament which gives the Health Secretary a power to issue all sorts of regulations for the protection of public health, and then one of those regulations includes a brief paragraph to say that all church services are hereby prohibited and criminalised until further notice.

Like so many things in the Magna Carta, the principle of liberty of the Church has steadily gained recognition across the world. Its modern reincarnation is the freedom of thought, conscience and religion, protected by Article 9 of the European Convention of Human Rights. An important principle consistently acknowledged in ECHR Article 9 jurisprudence is that of 'church autonomy': a secular public authority may not interfere with the internal workings of a church or religious organisation and may not impose rigid conditions on the practice or functioning of religious beliefs.

The danger inherent in the method used by the Government, apart from it being unlawful, is that the same method could be used for some more sinister purpose (such as regulating the content or tone of our preaching).

Such things already have happened through the passing of Bills e.g. the Anti-Social Bill, The Equality Act, British Values in Schools and Section 5 of the Public Order Act. Paul writing to the Colossians told them "See to it that no one takes you captive through hollow and deceptive philosophy, which depends on human tradition and the elemental spiritual forces of this world rather than on Christ." (2:8) we now have an outright challenge to God by Government through its RSE regulations including Gender Realignment Therapy.

RSE Regulations

On Tuesday, 11th September 2019, the Lords and Commons Family and Child Protection Group, chaired by Sir Jeffrey Donaldson MP, and jointly Convened by Revd Lynda Rose, CEO of VfJUK, and Robert Harris, launched its Report on Relationships and Sex Education: "The Way Forward". The Report was in response to the public consultation on Relationships and Sex Education (RSE), that closed on November 7 2019.

Since then many people and groups responded to the Government's consultation, the majority against the Governments proposals.

On Wednesday 27th March 2020, the House of Commons approved the draft Relationships and Sex Education Guidance by a massive 538 votes to 21.

In the light of this the Government Admitted that the majority of all respondents opposed the teaching of LGBT issues, which were seen as both inappropriate and contentious.

In other words, says VfJUK, a clear majority of respondents strongly opposed the Government's proposals. Even more to the point, however, the new Regulations contravene UK law, under which parents have the right to have children educated in line with their religious values and belief (see ECHR, Article 1, Protocol 2; The Education Act 1996, s.9; The Human Rights Act 1998, Schedule I, Part II, Article 2). They also contravene the requirements of the Equality Act 2010, which lists as characteristics to be protected from discrimination: age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation.

All the major religions prohibit sexual licence, promiscuity and homosexuality. The new Regulations, however, state that all teaching must now be framed so as to include and promote LGBT behaviours and gender choice. Children must of course be taught to respect and care for all equally as made in the image of God - but teaching that gender is a matter of choice, not biology, that LGBT and heterosexual sex are the same, and that same sex marriage is the same as traditional marriage is incompatible with religious belief. Reconciliation of the two approaches is impossible! So the conclusion is inescapable – the new Regulations are prioritising LGBT so-called rights over religious belief.

This is not right. By their actions, MPs scorn and deride the very ideas of democracy and respect for the law. Their attitude indeed seems to be that whatever the will of the people, they know best! Thus, they have taken away the God-given right of parents to protect and educate their children, passing on the values by which they live - and have transferred control to a godless State. To a demonic State – because what we are seeing now is straight ideological indoctrination into views and behaviours that are overtly hostile to Christianity. The State is peddling bigotry and hatred!

VfJUK in its article felt that it could do no better than repeat the words of Oliver Cromwell, on his dissolution of Parliament on 20th

April 1653.

“It is high time for me to put an end to your sitting in this place, which you have dishonored by your contempt of all virtue, and defiled by your practice of every vice; ye are a factious crew, and enemies to all good government; ye are a pack of mercenary wretches, and would like Esau sell your country for a mess of pottage, and like Judas betray your God for a few pieces of money.

Is there a single virtue now remaining amongst you? Is there one vice you do not possess? Ye have no more religion than my horse; gold is your God; which of you have not barter'd your conscience for bribes? Is there a man amongst you that has the least care for the good of the Commonwealth?

Ye sordid prostitutes have you not defil'd this sacred place, and turn'd the Lord's temple into a den of thieves, by your immoral principles and wicked practices? Ye are grown intolerably odious to the whole nation...

In the name of God, go!”

Gender Reassignment

From 50 cases in 2010, to 2,519 in 2018 – referrals for gender reassignment therapy amongst children has skyrocketed by a massive 4,000%. But clinical psychologists working for the Gender Identity Development Service (GIDS), based at the Tavistock Clinic, London, say that experimental and potentially dangerous treatment is being offered too soon and without proper assessment. In the past three years, five of them have resigned on conscientious grounds (<https://www.thetimes.co.uk/article/calls-to-end-transgender-experiment-on-children-k792rfj7d>).

The battle continues...

No sooner have the Relationships and Sex Education Regulations received Parliamentary approval, than LGBT activists have started calling for their immediate review and upgrade. In a recent letter to Education Secretary Damian Hinds, drawn up by the Peter Tatchell Foundation and supported, amongst others, by actor Stephen Fry and Elly Barnes, CEO and Founder of Educate and Celebrate, LGBT campaigners are calling for statutory enforcement of even more explicit teaching about sex, and for further normalisation and promotion of homosexual behaviours and same sex relations. They argue that hetero, homo, and bisexual relations must be presented as equally valid, with no faith school opt out, and with removal of the parental right of withdrawal (https://www.theguardian.com/education/2019/may/08/stephen-fry-backs-calls-review-new-rse-sex-education-programme-schools?CMP=tw_t_a-education_b-gdnedu).

Director of the Foundation, Peter Tatchell, writes that ‘political, religious and cultural sensitivities should not be allowed to thwart mandatory age-appropriate RSE in every school, including in faith and independent schools...’.

As well as making all such teaching mandatory, without exemption, the letter calls for the promotion of safer alternatives to intercourse (such as encouragement to oral sex and mutual masturbation), and says pupils should be taught about sexual pleasure and how to achieve it for both themselves and a partner, ‘with the aim of helping them secure mutual sexual happiness’

(<https://www.petertatchellfoundation.org/stephen-fry-backs-our-call-to-revise-sex-education/>).

End note (the last word belongs to the Lord)

The prophet Amos cried out to God (5:24) "Let Justice flow like a river and righteousness a never ending stream."

ABORTION

Sacrificing children and babies by law

"Thou shalt have no other gods before Me" (Hebrew: לא יהיה לך אלהים אחרים על-פני) is one of the Ten Commandments found in the Hebrew Bible at Exodus 20:2 and Deuteronomy 5:6, which establishes the nature of the relationship between the nation of Israel and its national god, Yahweh the God of Israel, a covenant

It is with impunity that these evil groups continue their work and their influence over the Civil Service and members of Parliament has increased greatly (Just like LGBT) to the point where they are now writing the new Regulations and insisting that these become universal. Moral belief, whether Christian or other religious teaching is ignored and, clearly, their business model worships not just Molech but also Plutus.

Christian Concern have stated that since the introduction of the Abortion Act 1967, there have been over 7 million abortions in the UK. This is a tragedy. As well as the loss of life it has led to a general disregard for the sanctity of life in society. In addition, there is accumulating evidence of the serious consequences of abortion on mothers including potential damage to their physical and mental health. At Christian Concern we resist abortion and aim to inform women of its dangers. We believe that every unborn child should have their right to life protected. To that we would shout Amen!

Life News (www.lifenews.com) reports that The 2018 Abortion Statistics, published June 2019 by the Department of Health and Social Care, show that 205,295 unborn babies were killed by abortion in 2018.

The total is just short of the highest on record (205,598 in 2007), but the number of abortions performed on women resident in England and Wales is 200,608, the most ever recorded.

Increase in medical abortions shows abortion ideology is triumphing over women's health

One noticeable trend in the statistics is the sharp increase in abortions carried out using pills (so-called medical abortions). 71% of abortions were medically induced, higher than in 2017 (66%), and almost double the proportion in 2008 (37%). The proportion of medical abortions has almost doubled in the last ten years from 37% in 2008, and since 2014, medical abortions have been the most common method of abortion.

Calling this trend alarming, SPUC's Antonia Tully said that medical abortion is being pushed for ideological reasons.

"Abortion pills are presented as a safe and simple solution (often by researchers with close links to the abortion industry), however they are often harmful to women," she said. "Common side-effects include vomiting, severe pain and excessive bleeding. A recent Swedish study of women who had an early medical abortion at home found that 26% of women bled for more than four weeks."

The Good News is that the attempted last-minute weasel amendments to the Domestic Abuse Bill were not voted on. If they had been voted on and gone through, England and Wales would have been left with the most liberal abortion law in Europe, allowing termination on request and on demand up to 28 weeks, and continuance of so-called self-administered DIY abortion for abuse victims.

We praise God that Sir Lindsay Hoyle, Speaker of the House of Commons, announced that he would not allow inclusion of the amendment to repeal sections 58 and 59 of the Offences Against the Person Act, the effect of which would have been effectively to remove all protections from the unborn child, in one fell swoop decriminalising abortion. Later in the evening, Diane Johnson MP subsequently withdrew her amendment to allow medical and surgical abortions to take place anywhere for abused women. It is thought the abortion lobby feared a major defeat if this came to the vote, so rather than risk losing face, pressured her to withdraw.

Right to Life published an excellent Parliamentary briefing on these two proposed amendments that clearly alerted many MP's to the evil intention of the Abortion lobby. See (www.righttolife.org.uk) for details.

Another piece of Good News concerning the abortion debate is that the Court of Appeal has granted Christian Concern permission for a judicial review of the Government's decision on 'at-home abortions'. This means that the Court of Appeal will hold a public hearing to decide whether the Health Secretary's decision to introduce at-home abortions should be quashed. I think that a date has now been set for the end of this month but for more information go to www.christianconcern.com

Finally, we should be aware that the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists has now released guidelines for healthcare workers providing abortions which suggest ways to provide cover for women who break the law, including advice advocating for feticide and facilitating abortion past the new 10week limit for DIY home abortions. These guidelines are far from impartial and their links with major abortion providers should be urgently reviewed.

Rev Dr Joe Boot writing in his book "The Mission of God" has this comment which is very applicable to the abortion issue. He says “Acts that were....seen as crimes are now praised by lawmakers and magistrates as practical virtues or proud statements of freedom and liberty – hence the Western world’s penchant for striking down laws against abortion, not to mention turning a blind eye to infanticide”.

Lawlessness

The issue of Black Lives matter has dominated the headlines and caused widespread reaction, some violent, other racist and most bemused by the false arguments and twisting of history involved. It has become racist to suggest that ‘all lives matter’ and even Megan Markel and Prince Harry have weighed in on the issue. Serious and considerate journalists have been abused on every digital platform for daring to suggest that the arguments as presented are skewed and in themselves racist. Even Toby Young (a British social commentator and formerly Director of the New Schools Network, a free schools charity) has been fired for writing a blog disagreeing with BLM’s policies. He was investigated for liking a tweet saying, ‘all lives matter’; censored from a petition site for asking the Oxford English Dictionary to keep its definition of ‘woman’ as ‘adult human female’.

There cannot be anyone who does not recognise the past history of slavery both in Europe and America nor who would deny the racism that brought segregation and misery to many black people in the Deep South or to the West Indians who in emigrating to the UK were subject to all manner of racism and abuse. The Windrush scandal is still with us and many West Indians are still suffering because of it. As Christians we have come to understand the doctrine of man and believe that there is no difference in God’s eyes between races, gender, slave, free, creeds or age. The commandments instruct us to love one another and to love our neighbours as well as our enemies.

It is such a travesty that BLM is a political movement and is anti-Semitic. In 2016 Rachel Gilmour helped assemble and draft the 'Movement for Black Lives (M4BL) Policy Platform, adopting an anti-Israel position and endorsing the boycott, divestment and sanctions agenda which seeks the elimination of the world's only Jewish State. That year Gilmour declared on Twitter "Zionism is white supremacy". She rejected her own Jewish background and served as a co-director of a group calling itself Dream Defenders, which claims that 'the state violence (minorities) experience in the USA is directly tied to violence facing Black and Brown communities in Palestine and around the world.(source United With Israel news - <https://unitedwithisrael.org/?s=Black+Lives+matter>)

Black Lives Matter is or was an organized movement in the United States advocating for non-violent civil disobedience in protest against incidents of police brutality against African-American people. <http://blacklivesmatter.com/>

Efforts to link police brutality in the US with the IDF have flooded the Internet and been used as propaganda by the BDS movement.

The UK Black Lives Matter movement calls for repentance and reparation for wrongs endured over two hundred years ago - but apparently accepts without comment the cruel and vicious exploitation of enslaved people today. It ignores too the fact that black people living in Britain are not the descendants of ex-slaves who have remained, but are here by choice, they or their families drawn by our culture to seek a better way of life. They have been welcomed and found work here, contributing to the rich diversity of life in modern Britain, while enjoying access to our free health service and education, together with housing and financial support, where required.

There are clearly social and financial inequalities within the country, but these equally affect white people, and conditions of poverty and social injustice are issues that need to be addressed for all.

The truth is, current unrest is being exploited by activists whose aim is to undermine Western culture, using the pretext of ending white supremacy (see: <https://blacklivesmatter.com>).

We should also remember that truth has become a matter of personal opinion over the past few years. Abolishing objective truth has opened the way to the hegemony of lies. All values become relative and that make Christian apologetics very difficult to articulate today. Our Western liberal democratic culture, once based upon the Judeo-Christian Bible has been eclipsed by moral and cultural relativism, identity politics, and gender identity has led to the nation largely believing that they are whatever they choose to be at any given time. In the midst of this is the topsy-turvy world of opposites. For example, disadvantage has now become entitlement, victimhood has become powerlessness, (a Marxist political and economic dogma) and gender identity child abuse is redefined as 'human rights'. The cultural Marxism of the EU has left its' mark on the UK in many ways! So now dissent against 'group think or the gospel of Woke' leads to being thrown off public platforms, kicked out of jobs and denounced and ostracised by colleagues.

White society is in danger of being vilified by anti-white racists who viciously smear as a 'bigot' anyone who objects. (For a full article entitled "The Barbarians at the Gates" go to www.melaniephillips.com

Gospel of Woke

In an interview on the Today programme on Radio 4 on July 26, Justin Welby, having expressed the view that some statues in Canterbury Cathedral 'have to come down', was asked by the interviewer if he wasn't perhaps downplaying 'forgiveness', and whether people shouldn't perhaps forgive the trespasses of those being commemorated. Without the slightest pause, the Archbishop replied, "... there can be forgiveness, I hope and pray as we come together, but only if there's justice." (italics added)

His meaning, sadly, was clear. Britain has in the past done such terrible wrong in its contribution to the slave trade prior to abolition, that we cannot now be 'forgiven' unless and until we abase ourselves and erase every last trace of our history that might imply any contact with those in any way involved. At every level, he is wrong.

Linda Rose writing in Voice for Justice UK commented that Firstly, his position is historically misinformed, feeding into the BLM narrative that the British Empire was built on the cruel and vicious exploitation of slaves. This is a wilful misrepresentation of fact designed to fuel racial division and tension, while dismissing the brave fight of men like Quaker Thomas Clarkson and politician William Wilberforce, who spent their lives, at great personal cost, campaigning for abolition.

Secondly, she points out that the Archbishop, seems completely unaware of all of this. Britain is simply branded wrong, and there is a conspicuous lack of recognition or acknowledgment for any of the good our forebears undoubtedly did. And so he betrays and trivialises the nation's history.

But perhaps of far greater importance than this, given his role, is the Archbishop's apparent commitment to the 'gospel of woke'. The Cambridge English Dictionary defines woke as the awareness of social problems such as racism and inequality (<https://dictionary.cambridge.org/dictionary/english/woke>). Within and on top of this, there is a strong element of political correctness, freely exploited by the overtly Marxist-inclined BLM movement (<https://blacklivesmatter.com>). Woke screams victimhood and demands that people pay.

But this is not the message that Jesus proclaimed.

No, Jesus came preaching a message of repentance for sin and love - and of absolute forgiveness towards others.

Woke being worked out! (Unredacted Staff July 2, 2020)

The BBC has announced it will spend £100 million on 'diverse and inclusive content' in response to Black Lives Matter unrest.

The BBC, funded by the compulsory TV license fee, will also set a 20 percent diverse-talent target for all new productions from April 2021.

“The senseless killing of George Floyd – and what it tells us about the stain of systemic racism – has had a profound impact on all of us,” BBC Director-General the Lord Hall of Birkenhead said. Lord Hall, a wealthy white male, earns a salary of £400,000 a year as head of BBC.

The BBC has offered BAME-only training and internships for a number of years, with no positions offered exclusively to people from white working-class backgrounds – despite being one of the most under-represented demographics at the organisation.

WOKE WATCH: PRINCE HARRY APOLOGISES FOR RACISM IN CRINGE VIDEO

- Unredacted Staff
- July 2, 2020

Prince Harry has apologised for not doing enough to fight institutional racism, claiming that it is “endemic” in society.

In his video address, the Duke of Sussex immediately mentioned his woke wife, Meghan Markle, saying: “My wife said recently that our generation and the ones before us haven’t done enough to right the wrongs of the past. I too am sorry.”

CONCLUSION

The challenge on page 6 is perhaps exemplified by both the contents of this newsletter and all the other End Times news. I have mentioned Tony Pearce's excellent publication Light for the Last days and his web site, particularly that for Israel.

We must invite the Holy Spirit to examine our hearts point out our sin, remembering that 'all have sinned and fallen short of the glory of God' and are justified freely by His grace through the redemption that came through Christ Jesus' (Romans 3:23-24)

We have much to pray about and now, more than ever, we should be watchmen on the wall, ready to warn others of the evil that is coming. Be ready always to give an account of your faith in the Lord Jesus Christ and show Him to others.

Don't be content to stay still and not speak out. God doesn't give us that choice. I was inspired by Kathleen Mitchell's recent prophetic word to the Church. It is a long prophesy but in it God speaks and says "The members of my Body were always intended to be fire starters among the lost.. however they became content with warming themselves, while leaving the deceived to be deluded, and ignorant of My truth and My reality..."

Let us therefore, face the wall, read God's word and respond, for he has called us to Himself.
