On the brink of Disaster - only Jesus can save them!

Today, more and more people are challenging the Globalist lies and fake news and helping to expose the darkness around the world and especially in America, where Christians are praying for their nation and for Revival of the Christian faith. They are believing that God not only hears but will answer. For the Watchmen on the wall prayer is a powerful weapon alongside sounding the alarm about what is coming.

Can we trust the media as it is a part of the globalist plan, whether left- or right-wing press? Don't trust the Government machine because our Civil Service and politicians are past masters of deception and false news during the world wars but also, and especially, during this spiritual battle for the soul of the believing Church. It is clear that Christianity is of little interest to the Government. For many of the 35,000 at Trafalgar Square on 29th August and in Berlin these concerns brought them there.

In the letters to the Seven Churches of Asia Minor, Jesus exposes each one with details of their sin and faults, threatening to remove the Holy Spirit from them if they do not repent and hold fast to the gospel. What do you think He would he say to the Church today?

Perhaps,

- You have believed the Lies and the 'pseudo-science' that the Government has given throughout the Pandemic and you have bowed the knee to other gods, who have stopped you fulfilling your mandate to make disciples of all nations.
- You have failed to stand up for the Truth about Nursing Homes and kept quiet about the thousands of unnecessary deaths caused by uncaring and deliberate actions by NHS and Government.
- You have worshipped the NHS that has shut wards, been half empty during the Pandemic and consigned over 15,000 to death, illness and pain by cancelling elective treatments, leaving many to die of other infections, illnesses and sickness.
- You are watching the world economies fall apart and be consumed by tremendous debts that cannot be repaid and not asked me, the Lord, who owns all the cattle on a thousand hills, and all the silver and gold for help to support all those affected by this man-made virus.
- You continue to worship many other gods and have surrendered your right to the truth and the Holy Spirit by changing your doctrines to fit the will and practice of man in defiance of my laws, teaching and calling.
- You have no power; you make lots of noise in your worship, but my Word and gospel are rarely preached. You are long on Philosophy but short on testimony and witness.

I believe that time is truly short leading up to the Rapture of the Church. I believe that most of the 'Signs of the Times' have now been or are being fulfilled and I can see the dead hand of the antichrist on us and smell his kingdom of lies, evil, deception, fear, theft and death (John 10:10). The key question for us is ARE WE READY?

There is such a need for us to acquaint ourselves with a deeper knowledge of Scripture and the facts about what is happening in the world.

The globalist (antichrist) plan is centred upon the Covid19 pandemic, so let us start with that this month.

Coronavirus warning: There may NEVER be a COVID-19 vaccine says head of UK taskforce

THE Chair of UK Vaccine Taskforce has warned there may never be a vaccine for COVID-19. By SVAR NANAN-SEN PUBLISHED: 09:17, Mon, Jul 20, 2020 | UPDATED: 09:45, Mon, Jul 20, 2020

Kate Bingham told Sky News' Kay Burley that there has never been a vaccine against any previous coronaviruses. Ms Bingham also pointed to the fact there are no vaccines for diseases such as Malaria and HIV, despite both illnesses being better understood than COVID-19.

Ms Bingham said: "We have to be very cautious because there has never been a vaccine against a coronavirus and there may never be one. "What we have been tasked to do is protect the UK population against COVID-19 through vaccination and to do so as quickly as we can.

"The UK is absolutely at the forefront of global efforts to source vaccines from across the world, across a range of different technologies." Ms Burley replied: "It is scary when you hear that there might never be a vaccine against it.

"I don't think there is a vaccine against SARS is there?"

Ms Bingham said: "No and there is no vaccine against Malaria or HIV and these are diseases we know well.

"So there is no expectation that this definitely can be done but the early data we are seeing is encouraging."

Earlier today Gavin Williamson was grilled on the fact up to a quarter of Britons may refuse to take a COVID-19 vaccine by Sky News' Kay Burley.

CARL Heneghan, the professor of evidence based medicine at Oxford University, was absolutely right to observe at the weekend that "people have become overly frightened and throughout this pandemic the fear instilled in people has been a real problem".

The professor is at the forefront of those seeking to instil a greater sense of proportion. Last week he highlighted how hospitals in Oldham (which is facing tighter lockdown restrictions again), Rochdale and North Manchester had 1,252 occupied beds. How many were Covid cases? Nine.

Even at the peak of the virus, that figure was only 290. Yet opinion polls have shown that many are under the impression that anything between 10 to 100 times more fatalities have been caused by Covid than the actual figure, which is 0.1 per cent of the population.

Instead others are branded “irresponsible” for gatherings that never lead to all the apocalyptic prophecies of spikes in the virus, while the ever more cases uncovered by testing are treated as if evidence of plague ripping through the populace, when the vast majority of them weren’t even aware they’d had the virus.

Hospital admissions, let alone deaths, have plunged to negligible figures. It becomes ever clearer too that both those sets of statistics were inflated by cases wrongly counted as Covid-related.

Yet we are still in thrall to the “concept of telling a nation to protect its health service by trying not to use it”, as leading consultant Dr Waqar Rashid recently referred to the government campaign at the start of the outbreak.

That concept was bolstered by the pious wail of “lives are more important than money” – a wilfully false distinction, as if maintaining a healthy economy and saving people’s lives and livelihoods were not inextricably linked.

We’re about to find out just how much.

The world is on the brink of what the World Economic Forum calls “The Great Reset”. The movers and the shakers of the global elite, the money men and the rich and glamorous met at Davos, Switzerland this year and endorsed their previous plan for world control involving population reduction (in the womb and for the elderly), eradication of Christianity and, by twisted logic and unspiritual minds, Jesus. This includes the manipulation of human DNA through vaccination and RFD marker to change the human genome and usher in a new One World Order with its bank, religion and government. As part of this “reset” many facets of their master plan must be carried out or put into place. For example, their twofold plan relating to a new world religion involves firstly, dividing the Christian and religious groups into opposite camps through a quasi-Christian movement called Q'ANON and secondly through the implantation of plans already laid for a new 'One World' religion called "Chrislam".

Q'ANON – The Apostle Paul when writing to Timothy, says (1 Timothy 1:2-4) that our battle is not with people but with the powers and principalities in the heavenly realms. (Ephesians 6: four-fold enemy – (i) Principalities, (ii) Powers, (iii) Rulers of the darkness of this age, (iv) spiritual hosts of wickedness. Paul tells Timothy about the 'what' [v1: prayers, intercession and make thanksgiving], the 'who' [v2: everyone including kings and all those in authority] and 'why' [v2-4: that we may live peaceful and quiet lives in all godliness and holiness, This is good and pleases God who wants all men to be saved and come to a saving knowledge of the truth]. People are not the battlefield, but they are the mission field! So, from the pit of hell, the spiritual hosts of wickedness are spreading division and enmity among the body of Christ to harden our hearts against God and His Son Jesus Christ. The sadness is that we are easily led into this just by disliking those who are politically opposed to us and have a different theological understanding to ours and whose lifestyles choices are different from ours.

If you don't know or have not heard of Q'ANON, don't worry, best stay that way! It is clearly antichrist. The name stands for Q anonymous rumoured to be a military intelligence operation pointing researchers and interested people to events or secrets via what are called "Q drops!" – you couldn't make this up, I have heard of 'dew drops' and 'cough drops' but never Q drops! Ezekiel 33 commands watchman on the wall. We are to speak out what we see/understand is coming. This is so about Q'ANON. It is already causing huge problems in the USA in Christian families and marriages. A central tenet concerns what is called "The Great Awakening" – not Rev Johnathan Edwards or The Wesleyan Revival but a new great awakening which apparently will wake us up to the power structures that have been keeping people in captivity for years. Q'ANON takes the form of a 'cult'. Qdrop 4510 has a meme to call people to take the 'oath' – yes to the antichrist. You can check all this out on the QANON website.

There are several reasons to think that this is of the antichrist. A selection of 'Qdrops' both contradict Scripture and the teaching of Christ and oppose the revelation of truth which we have been entrusted with. Examples include 1797; 3014;666; 3843; 2442; 2788; 4249; 2450 and 3858. The lie is exposed by the light of the Word of God. The powerful delusion and strong deception of this new 'great awakening', 'the brave new world', 'the wide road for all', 'trust and believe in yourself', 'follow the light' (satan who masquerades as an angel of light), 'we are sheep no more' (cf John 10:7-15) and finally that 'you are saviours of mankind' (cf Isaiah 43:11)

This movement also has strong links with the New Apostolic Reformation movement theology. CHRISLAM – According to Wikipedia, "Chrislam refers to the assemblage of Christian and Islamic religious practices in Nigeria; in particular, the series of religious movements that merged Christian and Islamic religious practice during the 1970s in Lagos, Nigeria. The movement was pioneered by Yoruba peoples in south-west Nigeria". As Allah is a false God this religion syncretizes truth with deception. Many people think that this will be the new 'One World Religion' not least because of the support and involvement of the Catholic Pope

In their online article, Compelling Truth.org, identify changes to the origin of Chrislam. They say that Chrislam is a modern-day attempt to blend the teachings and practices of Christianity and Islam. While the number of Chrislam adherents in Nigeria is few, the concepts of Chrislam have spread worldwide in recent years. Many have claimed that the interfaith movements that incorporate both Christian and Muslim teaching in the West are Chrislam, while some Eastern movements have used elements of both religions in blended, syncretistic movements. Some also wrongly confuse Chrislam with Christian-Islam dialogue since the website chrislam.org uses the term in this way in Lebanon. However, dialogue is a different matter than blending Christianity and Islam into one religion.

Both biblical Christianity and traditional Islam reject modern attempts of Chrislam. The Bible teaches there is one God (Genesis 1:1) and that Jesus Christ is the only way to God (John 14:6; Acts 4:12). Islam rejects the idea of Jesus as divine, rejects the Christian view of God as Triune, and rejects the Christian belief in salvation by faith alone. These two religions logically contradict one another in numerous ways. The only way in which these two belief systems can be blended into one is to choose only those beliefs that fit one's preconceived notions or to reinterpret both the Bible and Qur'an to fit a particular agenda.

Chrislam came into the spotlight in 2009 following megachurch pastor Rick Warren's address at the ISNA 2009 gathering (a major Muslim national event). Accusations were made that Warren had preached a message of Chrislam, that both religions were one. Warren soon responded with a clear rejection of these Chrislam accusations and a reaffirmation of orthodox Christianity. However, the events surrounding this controversy led to much attention regarding the definition of Chrislam and its spread throughout America.

Some have begun calling interfaith gatherings in the U.S. 'Chrislam' because they involve combined worship services with Muslim and Christian elements. Theologically, this label is accurate, though these participants are not connected with the movement in Nigeria and would likely reject the label.

Ultimately, however, Christians must be aware that the blending of Islamic worship elements with Christian worship is to be rejected (Jude 3). Instead, Muslims need a clear example of Christians who stand firm in their faith, present the biblical view of Jesus Christ, and live the teachings of the Bible in love. Only then will the biblical gospel message be clear to Muslims who seek salvation.

Things moved on when in February 2019, Pope Francis and the grand imam of al-Azhar signed a historic declaration of fraternity, calling for peace between nations, religions and races, in front of a global audience of religious leaders from Christianity, Islam, Judaism and other faiths.

Pope Francis, the leader of the world's Catholics, and Sheikh Ahmed al-Tayeb, the head of Sunni Islam's most prestigious seat of learning, arrived at the ceremony in Abu Dhabi hand-in-hand in a symbol of interfaith brotherhood. The document pledges that al-Azhar and the Vatican will work together to fight extremism. Claiming to be in the name of "all victims of wars, persecution and injustice", it warns against a "third world war being fought piecemeal". This One World Religion is scheduled to start in 2022. The mantra behind this is "the problems of the Middle East can only be solved when the people of faith come together" We know that this is a lie as the problems in the Middle east and the whole world can only be solved by the return of Jesus Christ.

It says: "We resolutely declare that religions must never incite war, hateful attitudes, hostility and extremism, nor must they incite violence or the shedding of blood". This sounds ok but their underlying motives will not bring this about.

The Guardian in its article written at the time also raised the issues of human rights abuses in the UAE and religious discrimination. The reporter commented that Christians are free to worship at churches and wear religious clothing and said that Open Doors, which monitors discrimination against and persecution of Christians around the world, noted that the UAE government does not allow Christians "to evangelise or pray in public. Converts from Islam endure the most persecution as they face pressure from family members and the local community to recant their Christian faith."

The stated object of this new religion is world peace. This is NOT the Daniel 9:27 peace deal which will only be the covenant of peace offered by the antichrist because this will happen only during the Tribulation period and after the Rapture, neither of which has happened yet. On the other hand, this surely is a stepping-stone towards that as it is clearly led by antichrist elements today.

Interestingly this month the UAE and Israel have signed a peace accord. This is called "The Abraham Accord". As part of this the UAE is to open in 2022 a synagogue as part of an interfaith compound, that will be called "The Abrahamic Family House". You can check this out on Brother Chad's (watchman on the Wall 88) and on Harbingers daily – Berean report.

A final comment on this topic concerns the fact that these peace accords will hasten the Rapture because they are provoking the radical Muslims to attack Israel. The Annexation of Judea and Samaria by Israel is also another trigger and when the Lord tells the Israeli Government to go ahead it will be the Lord's timing according to His End Times Calendar. As the world rushes around trying to get in front of God, they do not realise that their day of Disaster is coming closer.

THE GREAT RESET

The third sign relating to the disaster that awaits the unbelieving world is that called The Great Reset: Details can be found on <https://www.weforum.org/agenda/2020/08/building-blocks-of-the-great-reset/>

These details are in an online article by Hilary Sutcliffe, Director of Society Inside.

The Great Reset

- New ideas are needed to catalyse the Great Reset after COVID-19.
- Change can be as simple as adjusting our mindsets.
- Greater connection between leaders and the people, and between people, has the potential to effect the most change.

The World Economic Forum's Great Reset initiative seeks new ideas in order to use this unique moment in history provided by the disruption to economics, politics and our everyday life to catalyse a new approach to how our societies are run.

Here are four important building blocks that WEF say are needed to make this happen: Mindset, Metrics, Incentives and Connection.

1. Change our mindset – if we made it up once, we can make it up again

The first change will have to be to our mindset. Two powerful new books, Thomas Piketty's Capital and Ideology and Rutger Bregman's Humankind, show how our current outlook is based on fundamentally wrong assumptions and that dramatic transformation is possible with a change of mindset.

What both these books show is that our view of the world was simply made up. And made up by a surprisingly small but depressingly influential number of individuals – from Machiavelli and Adam Smith, to Milton Friedman and William Golding. But if we made it up once, we can make it up again, and there are plenty of people out there with great new ideas to work with if we started to take them seriously.

COVID-19 has shown the truth on both of these counts. What is important, to quote Henry Ford is to realize, "Whether you think you can, or you think you can't – you're right."

2. Create new metrics – measuring what matters will change everything

GDP measures the wrong things. Measuring the right things will give governments, business and citizens the knowledge they need to take the brave and challenging steps required to move to a more people- and planet-centred way of living.

GDP fails on so many levels – it measures wealth and ignores its distribution. It fails to even register the human and financial costs of capitalism, "externalities" such as social welfare, environmental degradation and the social, mental and physical health costs of innovations.

Dissatisfaction with GDP is widespread, and there are many alternatives being trialled that focus on the well-being of people and planet: for example the UN's Human Development and Social Development Indexes, WellBeing metrics, Genuine Progress Indicators, a Happy Planet Index and an initiative to use Gross National Happiness.

3. Design new incentives – you get what you pay for

Inextricably linked to metrics are incentives. In 1996, the Tomorrow's Company inquiry from the UK's Royal Society of Arts (which I was involved in) showed that shareholder value as the only indicator of company success was damaging both the companies and to society, and didn't even do a good job for shareholders. About every five years, there is another big initiative somewhere saying much the same, the most recent being the damascene conversion of the US Business Roundtable to a point of view that sees a changed purpose for companies "To promote an economy that serves all Americans."

But in the real world, it has been business as usual on incentives all this time. Venture capital companies - and even mainstream institutional investors - rarely include even the most basic questions about social and environmental risks in their investment criteria when piling cash into digital wonder companies.

Those sorts of tricky questions are left to environmental and social governance (ESG) funds, which, though growing, are a sideline to the main event - making as much money as possible in the shortest possible time. So until these incentives change and those with money really put it where their mouth is, or at least where the words in their investment brochures and Davos speeches are, things will stay exactly the same.

4. Build genuine connection - distance is the danger

In Humankind, Rutger Bregman shows the heart-breaking consequence of the distance between leaders and the lives of the rest of us, and how that is the biggest problem of all. He finishes his book with a look at the 1914 Christmas Day truce at the start of the First World War. Over 100,000 troops laid down their arms on the front line to play football, share stories, photos, food and drinks. But it wasn't just a Christmas Day thing; in some places, this lasted a number of weeks, with many servicemen remembering it as the highlight of their lives. It could easily have escalated into full-scale peace as both sides were reluctant to restart. Only the dogged perseverance of generals far away who used propaganda to stir hate and instilled obedience through orders to court-martial anyone for "friendly gestures" towards the enemy managed to kickstart the war again. These leaders' distance from the people was the critical factor. These four 'building blocks' alarmingly underpin their states intention for 'Reset'.

Digital technologies have given many of us a lifeline during lockdown, but also provide an illusion of connection. Anonymity provides cover for trolling, fuels polarization and allows all to feel superior to others from the comfort of our own little bubble. Our disconnection from nature helps us airbrush the effects of climate change, environmental degradation and animal suffering from our minds. The ultimate distance provided by autonomous weapons will allow detachment from the death and destruction (of 'them') at the press of a button.

Meanwhile, back at all our homes, as COVID-19 has shown most clearly, we are blithely trusting total strangers, helping our neighbours and communities, giving time and money to charities near and far and providing billions of large and small kindnesses to each other every single hour of every single day. Which of course goes unremarked.

It isn't just Davos and the Global Elite plans to reset everything to their advantage and under their control. There are many facets to this waiting disaster which the unbelieving world is walking into. Note that Covid19 is the excuse for all that they are planning but also note that they knew that it was coming a year before it did and before their 2020 Summit! The world economy is on the brink of collapse, the Middle East is on the brink of war. The USA is on the brink of disintegration and the EU is on the brink of political and economic collapse.

In the Book of Proverbs, we read in Chapter 3 verses 5-6. “Trust in the LORD with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; ⁶ in all your ways submit to him, and he will make your paths straight.”

On the brink of the Rapture – Jesus comes for His Bride

The Days are evil and God’s people are under persecution

Luke 21:17-19

¹⁷ And everyone will hate you because you are my followers. ¹⁸ But not a hair of your head will perish! ¹⁹ By standing firm, you will win your souls.

All over the world, Christians are under threat and suffering persecution. To admit to being a Christian and particularly to stand up for your faith brings down the wrath of the ungodly with verbal and physical abuse, accusations, and legal action. There is no doubt that we are now hated because of the name of Jesus. The Christian legal and counselling charities are busy with many actions. In addition, Christians are experiencing persecution, betrayals and martyrdom. This is just the beginning and we know from Scripture that it will only get worse as we approach the Rapture.

Matthew 24:9-10

⁹ “Then you will be arrested, persecuted, and killed. You will be hated all over the world because you are my follower ¹⁰ And many will turn away from me and betray and hate each other.

In many countries this is happening more and more as Christians are being betrayed by friends. In Israel Jews who accept Jesus as their Messiah and Saviour are betrayed by neighbours and family who then ostracise them, considering them to be no longer Jewish, which, of course, is not the case.

2 Timothy 3:13

¹³ But evil people and impostors will flourish. They will deceive others and will themselves be deceived.

True believers in Jesus who love the God of Israel and obey the Scriptures, will be persecuted by the apostate church in these last days. There is already an increase in false doctrine, false teachings and deceiving, lying spirits, and manifestations that are from demons. That's why St Paul warned that it would grow worse and worse. The internet and YouTube particularly are showing pastors, prophets and church worship that is full of heresy, false preaching and prophecy. We need the Lord's gift of discernment to test all these against Scripture before blindly following them.

Jesus said, "whoever loses his life for my sake and the gospel's will save it" (Mark 8:35)

ABORTION ON DEMAND – THE SACRIFICE OF CHILDREN

Judicial review heard in Court of Appeal

The case, brought by Christian Concern, argued that the government's DIY home abortion policy, introduced during lockdown, goes against the purpose of the Abortion Act by allowing dangerous abortions.

At the judicial review hearing, Christian Concern's lawyers argued that Mr Hancock had no power under the 1967 Abortion Act to authorise home abortions. The decision to introduce DIY home abortions was the most significant change in UK abortion law since the adoption of the 1967 Act. However, only Parliament is able to change the law, which states that abortions may only take place in NHS hospitals and approved clinics.

Lawyers argued that permitting DIY abortions at home frustrates the purpose of the Abortion Act, which is to prevent 'backstreet abortions' and ensure that abortions take place in safe and hygienic conditions.

We are now awaiting a judgment from the hearing.

Sickening admission

Andrea Williams, chief executive of Christian Concern, said: "The leaked email is a sickening admission that those running abortion services in England have elevated ideology over women's safety. "The email appears to suggest that pregnant women who have used the telemedicine service during UK lockdown have died or experienced serious life-changing complications. "This further confirms the inherent danger of DIY abortions and shows how ideologues who show little concern for women – and no concern for babies – have captured NHS England as well as the providers and professional bodies."

On the brink of The Tribulation – Final chance

The Coming Covid-19 Vaccine

by Dr. Carrie Madej

This information is very urgent and I really encourage you to think about the things that I'm saying. This is not a new topic for me as I've studied vaccines for 20 years. So I'm very familiar and very passionate about this information. Whatever you learn here, please share with friends, family and on social media platforms.

My Name is Dr. Carrie Madej and I am an internal medicine physician, osteopathic trained. I do not represent any companies or group. I am not getting paid or reimbursed and the opinions stated are solely mine alone. This information is not intended to diagnose or treat any individual. If you have symptoms, please see your individual health care practitioner.

The most important question/choice of your life is "What does it mean to be human?" This is a very important question. It is going to be very important for this Covid-19 vaccine that's being developed. First, some basic facts:

Altering our DNA

Each of us has enough DNA in our bodies that could stretch up to 10 billion miles when uncoiled. That's about 35 thousand terabytes of data, which is about 35 million hours of high-definition video.

So what information does this DNA hold? It's your blueprint for life, how you're created and designed, how your body functions, how it grows, how it reproduces, and even our thoughts and memories.

DNA is similar to computer code or binary code, if you are familiar with those. That's where it takes a small change in the pattern or code and it will have a very grand effect. Science has advanced to the point we can insert a gene into the human genome(1), we can put something extra in there, or we can take something out so that it's missing a gene.

You can translocate, meaning you can take one part of the genome and move it into another area of the genome, altering God's original design. You can even cut out a part of the genome of the human, take a synthetic or artificially created piece of genome and insert it into the human genome. This is also referred to as an "engineered cell line," a "synthetic cell line" or "genetically modified cell line."

However, when you do this you are rewriting that person's genetic code. You're rewriting/changing your God-designed software program. Which begs the question, how much change of our personal DNA code would it take for us to be considered "not human"? And is it even ethical or legal?

This is going on today. These are very important things to understand and discuss because they are currently doing this and trying to roll out this technology within this year.

TikTok: China's Trojan Horse to Indoctrinate America by Gordon G.

Chang August 10, 2020 at 5:00 am

At the moment, 'ByteDance' is in negotiations with Microsoft and Twitter to sell TikTok. Yet a sale will not by itself end the threat. Any new owner will have to go over line after line of code to insulate TikTok from Chinese interference.

Even an exhaustive review may not be sufficient, because Beijing will still know the general architecture of the software, thereby facilitating further manipulation of the app. As Dabrowa told Gatestone, "My team discovered that a foreign actor may come in the backdoor and change the feed."

In the meantime, Trump's 45-day period, plus the time needed to review software, give China plenty of opportunity to interfere in the upcoming American elections. That means Trump last week with his executive order may have saved American democracy but maybe not his own presidency.

TikTok: Anti-Semitic tweets

United with Israel Online article 26th August 2020

In a controversial new social media trend, users of the hugely-popular app TikTok are posting videos in which they pretend to be Holocaust victims.

According to 'Wired', the users make videos of themselves with fake injuries or the appearance of suffering the effects of starvation, and then talk about being murdered in the Holocaust, claiming that they are now in heaven. The videos have garnered thousands of views and some have more than 100,000 likes.

While the videos do not appear to be comedic, they are often accompanied by the song "Locked Out of Heaven" by Bruno Mars. The trend has come in for heavy criticism, with Wired quoting a 19-year-old Jew named Briana, whose family lost members in the Holocaust, saying, "Most creators are doing [these videos] to hop onto a trend so they can get likes and exposure [but they are] ill-informed and woefully ignorant."

"These kinds of trends are so normalized these days, there's also a level of shock value content which I think is outdated and in bad taste," she added. "This shock value further desensitizes viewers to this type of behaviour and normalizes this type of harmful content."

The future is 'CLEAR' and it's Dystopian: Virus hype ushers in a Covid 19-84 nightmare of restricted access

Clear's new Health Pass and other 'Covid hi-tech innovations' are a stark warning of how the globalist 'New Normal' being mapped out will operate. Access to travel, sport & restaurants may be barred for all who refuse to comply.

"Originally launched in May, Health Pass is an extension of Clear's mobile app. The service links COVID-19 related data like a health questionnaire and temperature check to assess whether someone is healthy enough to enter a certain venue. Additionally, the app has the capability to link COVID-19 test results through partnerships with labs, and eventually vaccination status."

That's how Condé Nast Traveller described the latest piece of technology by the biometric ID company Clear, which will help the authorities determine who will, and who will not, be allowed to go to the ball.

Apartheid may have officially ended in South Africa almost 30 years ago, but it is coming back big-time in countries that pride themselves on their commitment to 'human rights.' Only, this time, it won't be people's colour that will determine what they can and cannot do, but their digital 'Health Pass.' Don't want to get tested or vaccinated for coronavirus? Then just stay at home, old bean. It's your 'choice.' The fact that a large percentage of the elderly don't have smart phones and so can't download apps doesn't matter. Age discrimination, and discrimination against the disabled, is a key element of the coronavirus 'New Normal.'

It's likely that the World Economic Forum (WEF) will be very excited by Clear's work. The hardcore globalist organization has been promoting on Twitter a 'Covid-Pass' app, due to launch in September, that could "revive global travel and large events during the pandemic."

"Users will have their blood screened at an approved CovidPass laboratory, before being issued with a secure QR health visa code via their phone, which they can present at airline check-in, borders or event entrances," we're told. And if they don't want their blood screened at an 'approved Covid-Pass laboratory'? Forget about that week on the Algarve or going to see your favourite pop group in concert, comrades. That is the clear implication.

Covid/Health Passes are all part of the 'Great Reset' which the WEF has called for. It's about 'public health,' about making things 'safe' and, of course, it's 'environmentally friendly': the Covid-Pass, you'll be pleased to know, "commits to mandatory carbon offsetting for each of its passengers."

The WEF presents the 'Great Reset' as a positive: in fact, if implemented, it will usher in a new, dark age of soul-destroying totalitarian tyranny. Important freedoms that we all took for granted will be lost. Spontaneity will be removed from our lives. The great irony is that George Orwell's 1984 never arrived in 1984, but in 2020, under the cover of authority's 'concern' over an upper-respiratory tract virus. Covid-19 could perhaps more accurately be called 'Covid-1984' for all the restrictive, authoritarian measures it has ushered in.

It's fairly obvious now that in the country's most tightly hitched to the globalists' agenda, the sterile anti-human 'New Normal' of social distancing, mandatory mask wearing and the use of biometric Health/Covid passes is meant to be permanent. Last week we heard that the English Premier League was looking at 'clinical passports,' as a way of getting fans back into stadiums.

And in May it was announced that Zara Phillips (daughter of Britain's Princess Anne) and her husband, ex rugby star Mike Tindall, had been signed up as "ambassadors" for a digital health passport app launched by a British technology company VST Enterprises (VSTE). To see where this is all going, we only have to look at China. There, freedom of movement is heavily dependent on 'health apps,' as the Guardian documented in April.

A few months ago the idea that access to travel, sports events, concerts, or even retail outlets could be restricted to those who had a 'Health App' and the 'right' results from various tests, would have seemed totally far-fetched. But so too would almost everything that has happened this year in the UK, and beyond.

Privacy-loving Germany launches coronavirus track- and-trace app – how does it hold up? RT.Com

Who could have predicted that the authorities would threaten to lock down entire parts of that country – or even the whole country – with minimal notice, on account of the results of unreliable tests? And, even more incredibly, that large sections of Britain's population, including many of the Left who were telling us early in 2020 what an "extremist" UK premier Boris Johnson was, would go along with it!

There are signs in the last few days that people are at long last beginning to wake up to what is going on. But is it too late? Only by mass non-compliance with the 'New Normal' can we get our old lives back. The World Economic Forum and all others pushing a new, hi-tech version of apartheid need to be told in no uncertain terms where to get off. For the world they are trying to create really is too awful to contemplate.

Hydroxychloroquine success?

Yesterday President Trump had one of HIS posts removed by Twitter and Facebook. The post was by a large group of physicians, showing that by using hydroxychloroquine they were curing 100% of patients they treated. That should erase any doubt that information is being withheld by those clinging to control. <https://www.endtimesnews.org.uk>

Is Joe Biden and many leading Democrats and past Democratic presidents taking this drug to protect themselves during the US Election – Trump has challenged Biden to take a blood test with him before having a televised debate!

A Final word from Dr Carrie Madej (see Transhumanism v human - <https://youtu.be/62fiNbFGkm4>) The Covid19 vaccine is a completely experimental vaccine that is an experiment to be given to the world. It will change our nature, by reprogramming stem cells through modified RNA developed by a researcher Derek Rossi (Moderna). This is being fast tracked to phase 2. In tests 100% patients got systemic side effects. No scientific data has been made available on these tests. Elon Musk and Ray Kurzweil (chairman of Google) self-professed transhumanists along with other leading proponents. This vaccine can be self-administered by 'band-aid' supplied by Amazon or other on-line groups. The third part of the process is called "Hydrogell" developed by US Government. It is 'nano-technology' and enables AI connection which can then alter our thoughts, feelings, and actions. It will also act like emails, sending and receiving information. By any definition this vaccine will affect our DNA.

US Military, DARPA, Bill & Gates Melinda Foundation (Eugenics & Gene extinction technology to exterminate species and humans using mosquito's in Africa) are all involved. Under US Law, Big Pharma has no liability for any problems and therefore have no interest in making a safe vaccine".

Other news: William Hague, former Tory PM wants Biden to win US election as, he says, it is the UK's national interest! (Telegraph 25th August 2020) – left leaning Tory who will find much in common with Democrats and their libertine and OWG views.

- It's time to end the talks with the EU as we will NOT surrender our sovereignty as they are demanding (open letter signed by 38 leaders of industry, commerce, fishing and politicians.
- Woke capitulation by British Museum as it removes the bust of Sir Hans Sloan (founding father) apologising for "the exploitative context of the British Empire"!
- "Pupils more likely to die from car crash on school run than from Covid" says Deputy Chief Medical Officer as confusion and arguments continue to strangle plans to open our Education system.
- First case of Covid19 patient being reinfected. University of Hong Kong sequenced the virus in a healthy man who tested positive twice at airport screenings four and a half months apart and found that he had been infected with two different strains!

Matthew 6:30-33

But if God so clothes the grass of the field, which today is alive and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, will he not much more clothe you, O you of little faith? Therefore, do not be anxious, saying, 'What shall we eat?' or 'What shall we drink?' or 'What shall we wear?' For the Gentiles seek after all these things, and your heavenly Father knows that you need them all. But seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things will be added to you.
